

Conducting a brainstorm

Executing a brainstorm isn't unique; holding a productive brainstorm is. Great brainstorms are ones that set the stage for fresh and generative thinking through simple guidelines and an open and collaborative environment. Use this when you're just kicking-off a new project and want to hit the ground running with big ideas that will move your

- Set the stage for creativity and inclusivity Go over the brainstorming rules and keep them in front of your team while brainstorming to encourage collaboration, optimism, and creativity.
- Encourage wild ideas (If none of the ideas sound a bit ridiculous, then you are filtering yourself too much.)
   Defer judgement (This can be as direct as harsh words or as subtle as a condescending tone or talking over one another.)
   Build on the ideas of others ("I want to build on that idea" or the use of "yes, and...")
   Stay focused on the topic at hand
   Have one conversation at a time
   Be visual (Draw and/or upload to show ideas, whenever possible.)
   Go for quantity

Choose your best "How Might We" Questions Share the top 5 brainstorm questions that you created and let the group determine where to begin by selecting one question to move forward with based on what seems to be the most promising for idea generation in the areas you are trying to impact.

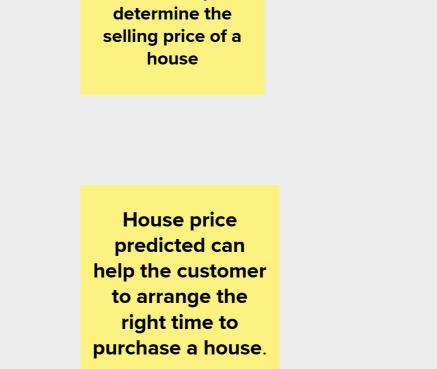

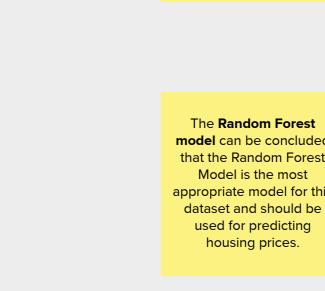

To run an smooth and productive session Stay in topic. - Encourage wild ideas. Defer judgment. Sisten to others. Go for volume.

If possible, be visual.

Have each participant begin in the "solo brainstorm space" by silently brainstorming ideas and placing them into the template. This "silent-storming" avoids group-think and creates an inclusive environment for introverts and extroverts alike. Set a time limit. Encourage people to go for quantity.

After you collaborate

A brainstorm like this typically results in a handful of promising ideas that you can carry forward and act upon.

Quick add-ons

Look for patterns or similarities in the standout ideas. Could any be combined together to form a stronger concept? Cluster similar ideas and label each cluster with a theme.

Vote on the most promising ideas

Narrow your focus to only the strongest few ideas by holding a Voting Session. Give each person 2 votes
